

Summer term guidelines for Students June-July 2023

This is for the information of all students that the Summer Term for this Academic Year is going to start from June 5, 2023. The Summer Term in this Academic Year shall be running in five modes and a detailed description of these modes is given below:

Mode A: Learning through Continuous Assessment Mode (Reading mode)

1. In this mode Instruction Plan shall be displayed to the students and they would be required to continue their studies strictly following the same with the help of Reading material and referring to the Text Book/Reference Book for the course. Timetable for Mode A courses is not applicable.
2. The students shall be provided three assignments spanning over the whole course syllabus, at regular time intervals. Submission of all three assignments shall be mandatory for the students.
3. The assignments have been developed to be outcome-based with an objective that the students study the concepts of the course exhaustively and gain clarity on the subject matter. The outcomes of the assignments shall be aligned with the course and programme outcomes.
4. In this mode the students shall be provided with the Instruction Plan of the course, the students shall be required to meticulously study the course contents as per the Instruction Plan and submit the assignments in adherence to the schedule. The students shall further be provided with feedback and remarks over the evaluated assignments and they can use them to further improve their knowledge.
5. A faculty shall also be allocated for all such courses and the students can consult these faculty members to get their any doubts clarified regarding course content through LPU Live App.
6. The weightage of all the three assignments shall be equal and shall contribute towards overall Continuous Assessment of that course.
7. It shall be mandatory for the students studying under Mode A to submit all three assignments through UMS. No exemption can be sought for the same.
8. The students shall appear for the End term Examination as per the normal procedure.

Mode B: Learning through regular classes

1. In this mode offline classes are scheduled for the courses registered by the students and will be taken by the allocated faculty members. Timetable will be notified on UMS.
2. The material of the relevant lecture will be uploaded on the UMS and intimation regarding the same will be given by your faculty members.
3. There will be only one Assignment for the courses running in this mode and the same will be allocated through UMS and students have to submit it as per the instructions of the concerned faculty.

4. The assignment allocated to the students will cover all the topics that have been discussed till the date of allocation of the assignment and it is compulsory to submit the assignment.

Mode C: courses with G grade registration

Mode C courses are those in which students have registered with G-Grade only, hence timetable is not applicable. In G grade attendance is not compulsory and No MTT and no CA shall be applicable. The student shall be required to appear for ETE whose weightage is 100%.

Mode D: courses having ETP/ETV only

Project/Dissertations/Capstone etc. based courses are categorized in Mode D.

Mode E: Learning through Continuous Assessment with faculty guidance (offline teaching Mode)

1. In this mode Instruction Plan shall be displayed to the students and they would be required to continue their studies strictly following the same with the help of Reading material and referring to the Textbook/Reference Book for the course. There will be only one interaction slot per week for courses in this category. In these slots, students can discuss the course content and ask doubts from the teacher. Attendance in the class will be mandatory.

2. The students shall be provided three assignments spanning over the whole course syllabus, at regular time intervals. Submission of all three assignments shall be mandatory for the students.

3. The assignments have been developed to be outcome-based with the objective that the students study the concepts of the course exhaustively and gain clarity on the subject matter. The outcomes of the assignments shall be aligned with the course and programme outcomes.

4. In this mode the students shall be provided with the Instruction Plan of the course, the students shall be required to meticulously study the course contents as per the Instruction Plan and submit the assignments in adherence to the schedule. The students shall further be provided with feedback and remarks over the evaluated assignments and they can use them to further improve their knowledge.

5. The weightage of all the three assignments shall be equal and shall comprise to be the overall Continuous Assessment part of the course for the student.

6. It shall be mandatory for the students studying under Mode E to submit all three assignments through UMS. No exemption can be sought for the same.

7. The students shall appear for the End term Examination as per the normal procedure.

.....END.....